Objective

Applied research and active development for an agile, stimulating, and responsible organization.

Education

Doctor of Philosophy, Information and Computer Science, 2003

Thesis: Component-Oriented Programming Languages: Why, What, and How?
University of California, Irvine

Master of Science, Information and Computer Science, 2000

Concentration in Computer Systems and Networking
University of California, Irvine

Diplom-Informatiker, Computer Science and Mathematics, 1997

Concentration in Technical and Industrial Applications
Munich University of Applied Sciences, Germany

Employment

January 2006 – present: Director of Internship Programs, Computer Science, The Johns Hopkins University. Organize and coordinate internships for Computer Science students, also Career Center Liaison for the department.

July 2005 – present: Lecturer, Computer Science, The Johns Hopkins University. Courses taught: Compilers and Interpreters, Data Structures, Foundations of Computer Science, Intermediate Programming, Introduction to Programming, Senior Design Project, Unix Systems Programming.

July 2003 – June 2005: Lecturer, Computer Science and Engineering, University of California, Riverside. Courses taught: Compiler Design, Programming Languages, Software Construction, Software Engineering, Project in Computer Science; co-taught graduate-level seminar on programming languages with Prof. Dr. Thomas Payne.

October 2002 – June 2003: Lecturer and Research Programmer, Computer Science and Engineering, University of California, Riverside. Courses taught: Compiler Design, Data Structures and Algorithms, Software Construction, Software Engineering. Worked with Prof. Dr. Brett Fleisch on mobile code security.

September 1998 – September 2002: Research Associate, Information and Computer Science, University of California, Irvine. Worked with Prof. Dr. Michael Franz in the Lagoon project on component-oriented programming languages and in the TRANSPROSE project on infrastructures for mobile code.

July 1998 – August 1998: Consultant and Software Engineer, COCOSS GbR, Munich, Germany, Development Processes, Internet and Databases.

January 1998 – June 1998: Visiting Researcher, Information and Computer Science, University of California, Irvine. Worked with Prof. Dr. Michael Franz in the Lagoon project on component-oriented programming languages.

March 1997 – December 1997: Software Engineer, NEXUS informatics GmbH, Munich, Germany, Machine Control, Newsroom Equipment and Systems.

Professional Activities

Member of the Association for Computing Machinery \(ACM\) and the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers \(IEEE\) since 1998.

Member of the Gesellschaft für Informatik \(GI, German Association for Computer Science\) and the Verein Deutscher Ingenieure \(VDI, Association of German Engineers\) since 1992.
